

What makes me happy is reading or writing to my loved ones. It's knowing that I am there for them and that they're there for me.