

What makes me happy is thinking through the best moments I've lived to determine which one is the best and thus reliving them.